Dear M. Salisbury,

I appreciate your kind and thoughful letter and the cute little gift.

You know, in all the years these kinds of gadgets have been available I've never had the need to use one?

One of my blesssings is that I have a wife who not only is better at such things, she has without complaint take care of them about a half-centmry now .

So, I'm going to have first of all to learn hoe to use it. No intsructions were with it. Maybe that will be fun, just using it.

Probably my wife has something similar so she can figure it out for me. I did not ask her yesterday when the mail came because she had a headache.

Thanks and best wishes,
